

BRIGHT, FRESH AND SO MUCH FUN!!!

Leonard AND THE Lottery Ticket

for orchestra, narrator and massed singing.
Words and music by Mark Walton.

FAMILY ENTERTAINMENT AT ITS BEST!

Leonard and the Lottery Ticket tells the amusing story that money won't necessarily bring you happiness but music most definitely will!

Leonard and the Lottery Ticket is a fantastic new 35 minute work that will totally involve and captivate your audiences at your family and school concerts. The songs are catchy, easy to learn and have to be surgically removed from one's brain after the show.

How does it work?

School groups, community choirs and families download the 7 songs and learn them prior to the performance. Just before the concert everyone joins forces for a short rehearsal followed by an explosion of great musical happiness.

Who will it appeal to?

Absolutely everyone including the orchestra as the orchestration is sophisticated and enjoyable to play.

Leonard AND THE Lottery Ticket

Overture

THE NARRATOR BEGINS...

An extraordinary thing happened not all that far from here to a friend of mine about three years ago. I'm one of the few people who know about it because this friend of mine didn't want a soul to know. For this reason I won't mention my friend's name as I respect his privacy... so let's just call him... Leonard.

"Introducing Leonard" tune

...So as I was saying just a bit over three years ago the thing that we all dream of happened to Leonard... yes my friend Leonard won... let's just say a huge pile of money with a $5 lottery ticket... We're talking millions.

"We're Talking Millions" song

For a fellow who lived an ordinary sort of life and lived in a little flat and drove a 1985 white Nissan Pulsar winning all of this money came as a nasty shock.
